Week 4 · Teacher delivery guide

October 26–30, 2026 is Disability Awareness Week. Morning Spark and Ember carry the same through-line as Morning Meeting: everyone belongs. Monday–Thursday Spark keeps its fixed format rotation with a belonging, communication, respectful words, or access focus. Friday's Spark is the Disability Awareness Week lesson Kindness into Action, with the day's worksheet, followed by the Time for Friday Cypher slide.

Spark leads straight into Morning Meeting

Each Monday–Thursday Spark ends on a hand-off slide that names that day's Morning Meeting lesson (Everyone Belongs, Different Ways to Learn and Communicate, Respectful Words, Fairness and Access) with a button that opens your band's Morning Meeting deck. Grades 2–3 rooms see two buttons: grade 2 uses the K–2 lesson and grade 3 uses the 3–5 lesson. Spark is the arrival warm-up on the day's theme; the Disability Awareness worksheet itself is completed in Morning Meeting (Monday–Thursday) and in Friday's Spark.

Preserve the daily routines

Arrival at 7:15. Spark is a 3–5 minute independent task; then K–2 read and grades 3–8 use IXL. In the 2–3 deck, grade 2 reads and grade 3 uses IXL. The day's IXL codes are on the slide, top right, from IXL Week 9 (October 26–30). Announcements are around 7:37, followed by a reveal of two minutes or less. Morning Meeting starts at 7:45; on Friday, advance to Time for Friday Cypher and students report to the hallway once the announcement is made.

Use day keys 1–5, arrows, bilingual read aloud, Repeat aloud for late arrivals, and Week view. Tuesday's reveal circles the four ways to communicate. Wednesday's reveal zooms out before the answer appears; reduced-motion mode reveals immediately. Thursday votes start at zero; explanations matter more than vote totals. Friday's reveal has a 60-second captioned video button.

Ember: 2:05 seated pack-up, 2:08 watch and settle, 2:13 reflect, then seated waiting. Keep the existing release order and times on the rail. Chromebook stays closed on the desk until the group is called; return it to the numbered slot, then leave. No lining up. Use the board's breathing fallback if streaming fails.

Equity sticks, talk moves, and LiveSchool

Every reveal follows Show, Think (ten silent seconds), Call (one or two equity sticks), Talk (30-second turn and talk if time allows). The daily keys below give the exact cold-call question and stem for each band. Talk moves: “Say more.” “Who can add on?” “What did your partner say?” Award LiveSchool points during the work period for sustained effort, said out loud: “Respectful: You gave your partner time to finish. That is patience.” “Safe: You chose to tell an adult. That protects someone.” Never award points for being quiet or finishing first.

Respect and privacy

Monday check-in slips stay private; the counselor collects them by 10:00 a.m. Feelings and readiness are information, not behavior grades. All week, use the fictional examples on the slides. Never ask students to name, explain, or show their own or a family member’s disability, diagnosis, or health needs, and never invite them to identify a classmate. If a student jokes about a picture board, device, or classroom, respond in one calm sentence (“We never joke about how people communicate.”), continue, and follow up privately. Any report of teasing is handled under campus reporting procedures the same day.

When behavior gets in the way

Correct privately and briefly, with proximity and the expectation: “Do Now first, then IXL.” Offer a frame instead of an explanation to a student who has not started. Do not hold a student out of the reveal or Morning Meeting to finish the Do Now, and do not use LiveSchool deductions for Level 1 behavior.

Grades K–1 · Daily teaching key

Monday October 26

Spark task: Weather pictures; private slip; optional adult check-in. Reveal: a welcoming wave.

Reveal / key: Everyone belongs here. Wave or say hello to someone near you. You may wave instead of talking.

Differentiate / facilitate: Privately point or circle; an adult can scribe. Do not interpret a feeling from behavior. Reveal: model a wave and a quiet hello; both count.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): “Show me a wave. Who can say hello in a quiet voice?” Turn-and-talk stem: “Hello, ___! (or a wave)”

Ember video bridge: Meet Julia and watch how her friends make room for her to play her way. Then take three calm breaths in your seat. (Meet Julia)

Reflection: Draw yourself welcoming a friend to play. You can play with us!

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone’s disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Tuesday October 27

Spark task: Look at the table. How many ways are the friends sharing ideas? Point and count.

Reveal / key: Four ways! Talking, signing, pointing to pictures, and using a tablet. Every way counts.

Differentiate / facilitate: K: touch-count the four friends. Grade 1: name each way. Accept pointing and gestures.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): “How many ways? Point and count with me.” Turn-and-talk stem: “I see ___ ways.”

Ember video bridge: Breathe and rest with the puppy. Stay seated; you may close your eyes or look down. (Mini the Puppy)

Reflection: Draw one way people share ideas: talking, signs, pictures, or a tablet. People can talk with ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone’s disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Wednesday October 28

Spark task: What might this be? Look at the colors and pictures. Draw your guess.

Reveal / key: A talking board! Some friends point to pictures to talk. We always use kind words about how people talk.

Differentiate / facilitate: Accept any reasonable guess with a clue (a hand, a red sign). After the reveal, practice pointing to HELP and STOP together.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): “What clue did you see?” Turn-and-talk stem: “I see a ___.”

Ember video bridge: Breathe with Two-Headed Monster. When something is hard, a calm breath helps us try again. (Monster Meditation: Try Try Again)

Reflection: Draw your trusted adult. Practice: “Please help. Someone is being unkind.” My trusted adult is ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone’s disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Thursday October 29

Spark task: Would you rather hear a story with headphones or read a story with big pictures? Choose one. Point to your choice.

Reveal / key: Both ways help us enjoy the same story! Fair means everyone has a way to join in.

Differentiate / facilitate: K: point and draw. Grade 1: give a reason. Both choices are right.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): “Which did you choose? Why?” Turn-and-talk stem: “I chose ___.”

Ember video bridge: Watch the snow swirl and settle. Let your body settle too, then reflect. (Whirly Burly Snow Storm)

Reflection: Draw a support that helps someone join in, like pictures, headphones, or a quiet place. A helper is ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone’s disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Friday October 30

Spark task: People with disabilities have interests, choices, and strengths. Notice what each person contributes. Color a strength petal on your Kindness Flower: ideas, effort, or skills.

Reveal / key: Give a compliment. Tell, point, or draw: “I noticed you...”

Differentiate / facilitate: Worksheet: Kindness Flower (Disability Awareness packet, page 6). Accept any specific strength or respectful compliment.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): “What strength did you notice?” Turn-and-talk stem: “I noticed you ___.”

Ember video bridge: Send a friendly wish to someone. You may breathe quietly or simply listen. (Friendly Wishes)

Reflection: Draw a friend's strength: an idea, effort, or skill. I noticed you ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone's disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Grades 2–3 · Daily teaching key

Monday October 26

Spark task: Weather pictures plus one ready move; private slip. Reveal: one way to welcome a classmate.

Reveal / key: Everyone belongs here. Find one way to welcome a classmate today: a wave, a smile, or "Want to join us?"

Differentiate / facilitate: Grade 2 may draw the ready move; grade 3 can finish the sentence. Reveal: students choose a welcome they could really use at recess or lunch.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): "What is one way to welcome a classmate today?" Turn-and-talk stem: "I can welcome someone by ___."

IXL codes on the slide: Grade 3: Math PNV, SUJ · Reading AUD, ZXC; Grade 2: read a book.

Ember video bridge: Sing or listen quietly with Julia and Elmo. Notice how friends enjoy the song together in different ways. (Twinkle Twinkle Little Star with Julia and Elmo)

Reflection: Who did you welcome today, or who welcomed you? Draw the moment. I welcomed someone by ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone's disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Tuesday October 27

Spark task: What do you notice? Find four different ways these classmates share ideas. Which way could you try?

Reveal / key: Speech, sign language, a picture board, and a tablet are all ways to communicate. Giving someone time helps every way work.

Differentiate / facilitate: Grade 2: label the four ways. Grade 3: explain why waiting helps. All four answers are correct.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): "What did you notice? What could you try?" Turn-and-talk stem: "I notice ___. I could try ___."

IXL codes on the slide: Grade 3: Math 9TA, FZA · Reading 5GY; Grade 2: read a book.

Ember video bridge: Place a hand on your belly and breathe slowly, or simply watch. Then return to the reflection. (Belly Breathing)

Reflection: Name a time you gave someone time to share an idea, or a time you could tomorrow. I waited and listened when ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone's disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Wednesday October 28

Spark task: Look closely. What could this be? Write or draw a guess and one clue you can see.

Reveal / key: It is a communication board. People can point to pictures to say what they need, like HELP or STOP. Every way of talking deserves respect, never jokes.

Differentiate / facilitate: Grade 2: name one symbol. Grade 3: explain how the board helps someone talk. Redirect any joke about the board right away.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): "What clue helped you? How does the board help someone?" Turn-and-talk stem: "My clue was ___."

IXL codes on the slide: Grade 3: Math F6C · Reading XZ7; Grade 2: read a book.

Ember video bridge: Take a quiet time out in your seat. Let your breath slow down before you reflect. (Time Out)

Reflection: Write respectful words you could use if someone is teased. I could say, "___."

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone's disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Thursday October 29

Spark task: Would you rather show your answer by drawing it or by saying it to a partner? Choose one and tell why.

Reveal / key: Both show what you know. When a class accepts more than one way to answer, more people can take part. That is fair.

Differentiate / facilitate: Grade 2: choose and draw. Grade 3: explain who else the choice could help.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): "Which did you choose? Who else could it help?" Turn-and-talk stem: "I would rather ___ because ___."

IXL codes on the slide: Grade 3: Math 5EC · Reading ESB; Grade 2: read a book.

Ember video bridge: Imagine a treasure box for good moments from today. Rest quietly, then reflect. (Treasure Box)

Reflection: Sketch one support that helps people take part in our class. ___ helps people join in.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone's disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Friday October 30

Spark task: People with disabilities have interests, choices, and strengths. Notice what each person contributes. Grade 2: color a petal on your Kindness Flower. Grade 3: choose one challenge on your Kindness Challenge.

Reveal / key: Give a specific compliment about an idea, effort, or skill: "I noticed you..." Then choose one kind action to try today.

Differentiate / facilitate: Grade 2 uses Kindness Flower (packet page 6); grade 3 uses Kindness Challenge (packet page 11). Accept any specific, respectful compliment.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): "What strength did you notice in someone this week?" Turn-and-talk stem: "I noticed you ___."

IXL codes on the slide: Grade 3: Math X9H · Reading Q5Z; Grade 2: read a book.

Ember video bridge: Notice the calm owl and the busy guard dog in your mind. Breathe, then choose your calm owl. (The Owl and the Guard Dog)

Reflection: Name a strength you noticed in a classmate this week. I noticed ___ is good at ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone's disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Grades 4–5 · Daily teaching key

Monday October 26

Spark task: Energy scale 1–5; matching support; optional adult check-in. Reveal: make room for a classmate.

Reveal / key: This week is Disability Awareness Week. Everyone deserves a real way to join in. Think of one way to make room for a classmate today.

Differentiate / facilitate: Energy and supports are private information, not behavior grades. Reveal: accept specific, realistic actions (save a seat, offer a role, wait for an answer).

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): "What is one specific way to make room for someone today?" Turn-and-talk stem: "One way I can make room is ___."

IXL codes on the slide: Grade 4: Math NLU, UTK · Reading A8M; Grade 5: Math QA6, VSP · Reading ZFH, 7GS.

Ember video bridge: Breathe with the snowflake. Stay seated and let your breath stay comfortable. (Snowflake Breathing)

Reflection: Describe one invitation you made or saw today. Did it offer a real way to join? The invitation was ___. It let ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone's disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Tuesday October 27

Spark task: Each person in this group shares ideas a different way. Name all four ways. What could the group do so every idea gets heard?

Reveal / key: Four ways: speech, signs, a picture board, and a communication tablet. Groups can give wait time, take turns, look at the speaker's board or device, and ask before helping.

Differentiate / facilitate: Grade 4: list the four ways and one group move. Grade 5: justify which group move matters most and why.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): "What is one group move that makes sure every idea gets heard?" Turn-and-talk stem: "Our group could ___ so that ___."

IXL codes on the slide: Grade 4: Math 8ZV, URL · Reading UB2; Grade 5: Math XHE · Reading RQX.

Ember video bridge: Follow the bubble with your breath. You may close your eyes or look down. (The Bubble Journey)

Reflection: When did patience help communication today? Name the action, not the person's needs. Waiting helped when ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone's disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Wednesday October 28

Spark task: Infer what this is from two details you can see. After the reveal, name the clue that best supports your answer.

Reveal / key: A communication board with picture symbols. Some people communicate by pointing to symbols or using a device. Mocking how someone communicates is never okay; respectful words protect dignity.

Differentiate / facilitate: Grade 4: two details plus a guess. Grade 5: name the strongest clue and explain why. Connect to Morning Meeting's Respectful Words lesson.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): "Which clue best supports your answer?" Turn-and-talk stem: "The clue that best supports my answer is ___ because ___."

IXL codes on the slide: Grade 4: Math L9R · Reading 6GA; Grade 5: Math TCD · Reading AF5.

Ember video bridge: Notice your breath without changing it. Then reflect on one moment from today. (Feeling the Breath)

Reflection: Write a respectful response and a trusted adult you could tell if words hurt someone. I would say ___ and tell ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone's disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Thursday October 29

Spark task: Would you rather show what you learned with a poster or with an audio recording? Which barrier does each one remove?

Reveal / key: A poster removes a speaking barrier; an audio recording removes a writing or reading barrier. Offering both gives everyone access to show what they know.

Differentiate / facilitate: Grade 4: choose and name one barrier. Grade 5: compare both barriers. Both answers are right; the reasoning matters.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): "Which barrier does your choice remove?" Turn-and-talk stem: "A ___ removes the barrier of ___."

IXL codes on the slide: Grade 4: Math EFB · Reading K7J; Grade 5: Math PBF · Reading QM9.

Ember video bridge: Notice each part of your body from head to toe. Rest in your seat, then reflect. (Body Scan)

Reflection: Identify one barrier in a school activity and one change that could remove it. Barrier: ___. Change: ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone's disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Friday October 30

Spark task: Inclusion is a daily habit. Notice classmates' strengths and respect their choices when offering invitations or help. On your Kindness Challenge, choose one inclusion challenge and name a strength you noticed in someone.

Reveal / key: Which action will you try today? Invite a peer to contribute an idea, ask before helping, or give time for someone to communicate.

Differentiate / facilitate: Worksheet: Kindness Challenge (Disability Awareness packet, page 11). Any realistic action that respects the other person's choice.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): “Which action will you try today, and when?” Turn-and-talk stem: “Today I will ___ during ___.”

IXL codes on the slide: Grade 4: Math JMX · Reading Y7G; Grade 5: Math BFQ · Reading 7QW.

Ember video bridge: Let the day unwind. Breathe comfortably or observe, then write your reflection. (Mini Meditation: Unwind)

Reflection: Which inclusion action from this week will you keep? Give one example. I will keep ___ because ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone’s disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Grades 6–8 · Daily teaching key

Monday October 26

Spark task: Readiness scale 1–5; emotion vocabulary; one controllable action. Reveal: one observable way to make room.

Reveal / key: This week is Disability Awareness Week. Belonging means respect, choice, and real chances to participate. Name one way you will make room for someone today.

Differentiate / facilitate: Readiness is information, not a grade. Reveal: push for an observable action, such as inviting a quieter peer to add an idea, rather than a general “be nice.”

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): “What is one observable way you will make room for someone today?” Turn-and-talk stem: “Today I will make room by ___ during ___.”

IXL codes on the slide: Grade 6: Math 5AX, ETK · Reading G7K; Grade 7: Math Y8T, XDG · Reading XJK, BGN; Grade 8: Math CCR, 9T4 · Reading UJJ.

Ember video bridge: Take slow, deep breaths with the video. Breathe at a pace that feels comfortable. (Deep Breathing)

Reflection: Evaluate one group moment today. Did everyone have a real way to participate? What would you change? Everyone could participate when ___. Next time ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone’s disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Tuesday October 27

Spark task: Analyze the group. What does each student use to communicate? Propose one group norm that makes sure every contribution counts.

Reveal / key: Speech, sign language, a picture board, and an AAC tablet. Strong norms: allow response time, do not finish someone’s sentence, ask before helping, and record ideas in more than one form.

Differentiate / facilitate: Push for a norm that changes what the group does, not just how members feel. AAC means augmentative and alternative communication.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): “What norm did you propose, and what would it change?” Turn-and-talk stem: “A norm we need is ___ because ___.”

IXL codes on the slide: Grade 6: Math V2E, 83K · Reading QGB; Grade 7: Math V5V · Reading G57; Grade 8: Math UV9 · Reading 5UK.

Ember video bridge: Follow the calm-down practice. Reset your focus before you reflect. (Calm Classroom: Middle and High School)

Reflection: Correct a myth about learning differences in your own words. People think ___, but actually ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone's disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Wednesday October 28

Spark task: Use the crop to make a claim. Name two observations and one question you cannot answer from the image alone. Revise after the reveal.

Reveal / key: This is a picture communication board, a low-tech AAC tool. It lets a person say yes, no, help, stop, or my turn. A device or board is a voice; mocking it is a disability-related insult.

Differentiate / facilitate: Accept any claim supported by observations. Strong revisions explain how the full image changed the claim. Connect to the Speak Up Plan.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): "What was your claim, and how did the reveal change it?" Turn-and-talk stem: "At first I claimed ___. Now I think ___ because ___."

Ember video bridge: Follow the breathing and stretch practice in your seat, then reflect. (Calm Classroom: High School)

Reflection: Plan a safe response to a disability-related insult online or in person. I would ___, support ___, and tell ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone's disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Thursday October 29

Spark task: Would you rather your class video have captions or a written transcript? Name who each one supports and one limitation.

Reveal / key: Captions support people who are deaf or hard of hearing, noisy rooms, and English learners, but move fast. A transcript lets people read at their own pace, but is separate from the video. Using both removes the most barriers.

Differentiate / facilitate: Accept either choice with a named benefit and limitation. Connect to the Remove a Barrier worksheet.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): "Who does your choice support, and what is its limitation?" Turn-and-talk stem: "___ supports ___, but ___."

Ember video bridge: Use the guided practice to slow down. You may simply observe. (Calm Classroom: High School, 6 Minutes)

Reflection: Name an accommodation and what it helps someone do. ___ removes the barrier of ___. It helps someone ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone's disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.

Friday October 30

Spark task: Inclusion is ongoing. Recognize a peer's ideas, skills, or effort and commit to one action you can keep doing. On your Inclusion Commitment, choose one habit and complete: "Next week, when… I will…"

Reveal / key: Where and when will you practice your habit? Allow response time, offer ways to participate, or speak up safely and seek adult help.

Differentiate / facilitate: Worksheet: Inclusion Commitment (Disability Awareness packet, page 16). A specific action linked to a real setting.

Equity stick (after 10 seconds of think time): "Where and when will you practice your habit?" Turn-and-talk stem: "Next week, when ___, I will ___."

IXL codes on the slide: Grade 6: Math NEA · Reading KV5; Grade 7: Math AJ9 · Reading FWH; Grade 8: Math 79Y · Reading XAF.

Ember video bridge: Bring your energy down with the breathing moves, then reflect on today. (Bring It Down)

Reflection: Commit to one inclusion habit for next week. When and where will you practice it? Next week, when ___, I will ___.

Look for: a concrete, respectful action. Reflections never ask about anyone's disability or health; if a student has no real example, the fictional morning model is enough.
